NARROWS PEOPLE WILL CELEBRATE
OPENING OF ROAD

Date Being Considered Is November 3; Completes Broad Ford Route.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED

Residents of the Narrows are planning a big celebration on the opening of the new road just completed between Connellsville and Broad Ford. The date has been tentatively set as November 3, because of the Halloween celebrations being held at Scottsdale and Connellsville on October 30 and 31 respectively.

E. L. Boyd has been made general chairman of the road opening committee. Other committee chairmen and their assistants are: dancing, Otto Lelesch, Frank Stofel and John Metzger; music, Nick Barton, Brady Cole, Paul Sandusky; lighting, John Lelesch, Jr., and Joseph Flerschmiller; entertainment, John Lelesch, and Mike Grabosky.

A band has already been booked and an orchestra will also be engaged. Women will have charge of refreshments.

A meeting of the committee is called for Wednesday evening when the complete program will be drawn up. It is expected hundreds from Connellsville, Broad Ford, Scottsdale, and other points in the vicinity immediately affected, will attend the road opening.

DRIVE TO BE HELD AT ROLL CALL TIME

In the November issue of the Payette School Journal, Miss Helen Carroll, chairman of the Junior Red Cross in the county, makes an appeal for the enrollment of all pupils of the schools during the annual Red Cross Roll Call. Miss Carroll says:

"In former years the Junior Red Cross enrollment was not taken up until late in the year, and in a few instances, vacation came and enrollment was either neglected or forgotten because the time was not opportune. It is believed that the Junior enrollment can be carried on with less effort and with greater success if it is done during the time of the enrollment of adults. During this period, parents are interested in the work and will be pleased to have the children join the Junior Red Cross.

"It is the desire of those interested to enroll every school in Fayette county in the annual Red Cross drive. The cooperation of every superintendent and teacher is solicited. It may seem, in addition to the many demands upon the schools for time and money, that it is asking too much to solicit another activity, but parents and children are easily enlisted in this enrollment. It costs only fifty cents to enroll a pupil. The school receives an art poster, a Junior Red Cross roll, a calendar, a year's subscription to the Junior Red Cross News, and each pupil receives a button. This poster, roll and calendar help to make the school room attractive, many uses can be made of the magazine, and every pupil likes to wear a button.

"Let each one be ready to make this year's enrollment one hundred per cent. We believe that any school that enrolls may be benefited in many ways. Enrollment material will be mailed to teachers within a short time."

Dawson Klan Holds
Outing at Driving
Park; 7,000 Attend

The outing of Dawson Klan No. 1, at Klux Klan, was held Saturday in the Dawson Driving Park where more than 7,000 members and families spent the day. The affair was pronounced very successful by one of its high officials. More than 4,000 automobiles filled up the spacious parking zone in the park.

An excellent sport program was carried out. Music was furnished by a band from Connellsville and another from Dunbar. Well-known speakers delivered several addresses.

An initiation was conducted during the day, 100 new members being admitted. A display of fireworks closed the day. It was the last community outing to be held in the county.

Forest Fire Rages
Close to Arsenal

DOVER, N. J., Oct. 27.—A forest fire raging through dry pines and cedar over a four-mile strip, ate its way towards within 100 yards of a Panetary arsenal early today, according to reports from the fire department. The fire was started by a lightning bolt before it was discovered by volunteer fire fighters. Laboring with picks and shovels throughout the night, 500 men checked the flames which were fanned by a high wind, just when it seemed that the arsenal explosion were certain to be reached.

White House
Services For
Sec. Wallace

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Government business halted today while the capital paid official homage to the late Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace, who died Saturday. Funeral service was held in the east room of the White House at 11 A. M.

HENRY C. WALLACE.

Government offices were closed from 9 to 1 by a formal proclamation. The service was attended by President and Mrs. Coolidge; members of the cabinet, who acted as honorary pallbearers, army and navy officers, the diplomatic corps, and friends and relatives of the Wallace family. Agriculture Department officials were active pallbearers.

At 3 P. M. the funeral party will leave for Des Moines where final interment will take place.

Hallowe'en to Be Observed at Star
Junction Tuesday

Star Junction will have its Hallowe'en celebration tomorrow evening. A committee of 10 men from the community has been selected to take charge of the merrymaking. The celebration is expected to be the largest ever held by the populace of that place. A large parade will be held, with a band from Connellsville and another of Perryopolis leading the procession. A list of 50 prizes has been made up and consists of both merchandise and cash prizes that will be awarded as the judges, who will be from out of town districts, will name. The children will be given all the noise-makers free, while the older folks will be given red-ere. Square and round dancing will help close the day. Dancing will be held on the streets of the town near the ball park. Two orchestras will furnish the music for the occasion.

Man Killed, His Wife Badly Hurt
On Car Crossing

Harry Zlotin of Norfolk, Va., was instantly killed Saturday afternoon when the automobile which he and his wife were riding was struck by a West Penn car at the Thompson Cross Roads crossing near Uniontown.

The couple were looking at the Shenandoah as it passed over that region Saturday and did not notice the approach of the trolley car.

Mrs. Zlotin is in a critical condition. She sustained a fractured skull and a broken neck in the accident. She is not expected to survive the day.

MRS. R. MARIETTA
ANSWERS SUMMONS; WAS ILL LONG TIME

Was One of City's Most Prominent Women; Had Wide Circle of Friends.

ACTIVE IN CHURCH WORK

Mrs. Emma McCormick Marietta, 75 years old, widow of the late Mayor Rockwell Marietta, died Sunday morning at 12:45 o'clock at her home, 121 East Crawford avenue. Mrs. Marietta had been in failing health since the death of Mr. Marietta December 12 last, and following the death of her son, Harry, nine weeks ago, her condition gradually became more alarming. She had been confined to her bed for the past month. On Thursday of last week she rallied and slight hopes for her recovery were entertained. On Saturday morning her condition was not so favorable and at noon she sank into a stupor from which she did not rally. All members of her family and her faithful companion, Mrs. Ella Shallenberger of Pittsburg, were at her bedside when death came.

Mrs. Marietta was a life-long resident of Connellsville and had a host of friends, by whom she was respected and esteemed, throughout the city. She was a third descendant of Colonel William Crawford, whose daughter, Mrs. Marietta, was married to George McCormick. Mrs. Marietta's grandfather, Mr. Marietta, was born in East Main street, now Crawford avenue, December 4, 1848, a daughter of the late George McCormick and Teal McCormick, pioneer residents of Connellsville. She was married to Rockwell Marietta, also a life-long and prominent resident of this place, November 26, 1865, and nine years ago they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. To the union eight children were born, the following surviving: William H., at home; Clarence R., of Monaca; George R., of Connellsville; Mrs. Emma Marietta Dail, wife of William Dail of West Green street; Mrs. Jessie Marietta Gray, wife of J. Melvin Gray, "Greyhound Place," South Pittsburg street, and Mrs. Mary George Holman, wife of A. D. Holman of East Crawford avenue. Roger and Harry Marietta are deceased. She is also survived by three brothers, Street Inspector William McCormick, Noble McCormick and George McCormick, all of Connellsville and a number of grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Marietta was a devout member of the First Methodist Protestant Church and in addition to serving as a member of the official board she was prominently identified with the various organizations of the church, including the W. W. Nichols Class, the Woman's Missionary Society and the Ladies Aid Society. She was also a member of the United Christian Missionary Society, the Philip Freeman Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution and an associate member of the Woman's Culture Club. She was very charitable, giving generously to the poor. It was the custom of Mr. and Mrs. Marietta for several years to give a treat on Christmas morning at their home for the poor children of the city and as the result of their kindness the hearts of many children were made happy on that day. Mrs. Marietta was also very kind to the sick of the city, always being interested in their welfare. Her death is keenly felt by all who knew her.

The funeral service will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home with Rev. J. L. Lamberton, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant Church, Rev. George Walker Buckner, pastor of the Christian Church and Rev. J. L. Proudfoot, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Private interment will be made in Hill Grove cemetery.

Police Hunt for Companion of Man
Found Murdered

SMITHTON, Oct. 27.—Joseph Burath, a Hungarian, 42 years old, was found dead early Sunday morning lying in a road not far from the Larimer farm, where a dance had been held Saturday evening. He was killed apparently with a single shot. His companion, Leslie Johnson, colored, with whom he had been seen to leave the dance, is missing and is believed to be a fugitive.

A charge of murder has been lodged against Johnson and State "troopers" have been called out to search for him. Joseph Burath and Johnson lived at Van Meter and were employed by a coal company. Burath is survived by his widow and five small children.

WILL WIN OUT

By United Press.
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, who will be the chief speaker at a Republican rally in the East End tonight, predicted President Coolidge's election on his arrival here today.

"Those fellows who are betting six to one on Coolidge are indeed true prophets," Dr. Butler said. "I have traveled across the country in this campaign and I am sure that the President will be chosen by a decisive electoral vote."

Dr. Butler added that New York is "as safely in the Republican column as Vermont."

Mining School

Mount Pleasant

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Oct. 27.—The Mount Pleasant Mining and Fishing Association has adopted an emblem. It is a gold and enamel, with red, gun, bird and fish on face and around the border, "Mount Pleasant Mining and Fishing Association."

The association at a meeting last week discussed people owning land, posting notices not to trespass, also the farmers' side, the question of men who leave down fences and destroy property as they go along. Killing animals in the backyard, etc. This was found, keeps the legitimate hunter off good ground. To make an effort to come with the situation, the association has decided to have printed posters and to exhibit them in conspicuous places, offering a reward of $10 for the apprehension and conviction of any person leaving down fences or destroying property in any manner. This amount is also offered as a reward for information as to any person who violates the fishing or hunting laws.

Business Good, Says
Head of Baldwin Co.

By United Press.
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—"Business is very good," Samuel N. Vaulstin, head of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, declared today on his arrival here to participate in the Navy Day program.

"Our landings are almost at flood tide," he said, adding, "about 90 per cent of the people in the country are contented."

Man's Skeleton Found

CARBONDALE, Oct. 27.—Paul play is believed by the authorities to have been responsible for the death of an unknown man whose body was found Sunday, decapitated in the woods about a quarter of a mile from Richmond, near here. A hat found on the corpse, is covered by powder burns and dotted with small holes, such as might be made by shot fired from a gun at close range. The head and right arm were missing and there was no flesh on the skeleton.

FELT BABY WOULD NOT HAVE FAIR CHANCE IN LIFE, SAYS
MOTHER WHO STRANGLED BOY

By United Press.
CLEVELAND, Oct. 27.—"I did not believe my baby would have a fair chance in this world, because my husband refused to believe the child legitimate."

With this explanation Mrs. Blanche Tobias, 21, of Wooster, Ohio, admitted today to authorities she strangled her two weeks old baby on Sunday. Prosecutor Felix of Wooster filed a first degree murder charge against the mother.

Admission of the killing came, according to Fritz after Mrs. Tobias was confronted with a physician's certificate which indicated the child had been strangled.

"I pinched the baby's nose and pressed his throat. He died right away," Mrs. Tobias confessed. "My child would never have had a fair chance in this world. He did not look like his father."

The husband, George Tobias, denied parenage of the child. Two months before the baby's birth the father was charged with brutally beating the expectant mother.

Rev. Paul S. Wight
Resigns; Will Go To Buffalo Church

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, Oct. 27.—At the morning service Sunday, Rev. Paul S. Wight, pastor of the First Christian Church, tendered his resignation, to become effective December 1, at which time he will become pastor of the Glenwood Avenue Church of Christ at Buffalo, N. Y.

In announcing his proposed resignation, Rev. Wight said a certain element in the church had been conducting propaganda against him, of which he could not fail to take notice and that in consequence he felt his usefulness with the Scottsdale church had been impaired to the extent that he felt a severance of pastoral relations for the good of the congregation.

Rev. Wight had been charged by some members, it was said, with having given too much time to affairs of the Klux Klan, at whose meetings he had appeared as a speaker and singer and for whom he had delivered lectures. He denied that he had received any pay from the Klan as an organization and said that what remuneration he did receive was for his services as a lecturer, in which he was paid as any lecturer would be.

The church to which Rev. Wight will go is considerably larger than that here and the salary is said to be $800 a year greater.

Rev. Wight came to Scottsdale nearly five years ago. The first six months of the current year made up the best period of his pastorate, in visible results. During that time 52 persons were added to the church. Besides this there were 15 baptisms of persons who took membership elsewhere. The accessions for the previous year had been 75 to 30. During the past year a station had been opened at Florence, Minn., at which there were 25 conversions. Some of these joined the Scottsdale church.

A congregational meeting to take action on the resignation will probably be held next Sunday. Rev. Wight made it plain that regardless of what action the congregation might take he would not remain as pastor.

The retirement of Rev. Wight is the third in Scottsdale in the last few months. October 1 Rev. J. E. Hutchison, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, resigned to go to Clarion. During the summer Rev. J. H. Lambach, pastor of Trinity Reformed Church, resigned. He is now at Traford.

The fact that part of the returns are made public and the details withheld leads to all sorts of unwarranted inferences. A man who is recorded as paying less than $2,000 in taxes but who is known to be a millionaire is looked upon with suspicion. He may have evaded his taxes? He may have sustained heavy losses in some enterprise or he may have put his money in tax exempt securities. But the individual is put in an awkward position unless he explains. An explanation of bookkeeping transactions are often too technical to be convincing.

The radicals outnumbered the conservatives in the last session of Congress because the leadership of the latter was clumsy. The radicals this time are profiting by the mistakes of the conservatives. And as for the repeal of the law, it has been made twice as difficult now that the radicals can see their opportunity to stir up dissatisfaction by discussing the income tax payments of capitalists of American industry.

Tong War Causes Importation of Chinese Gunmen

By United Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 27—Six Chinese gunmen, believed imported into this country as long warriors, were today the center of a mystery which police and immigration officers were attempting to solve.
 The Chinese are at Bellevue Hospital, suffering from starvation from which the seventh member of the band died a few hours after arrival. They told police they had come from Singapore in a packing case aboard the steamer Gallo Prince and had been practically without food since they were called up in the case in China. Captain Frederick Marshall of the Gallo Prince denied the men's story.
 "We have been out of China 40 days," he said, "and we did not have a packing case on board larger than two by three feet."
 The Chinese were arrested after getting out of a taxicab in Chinatown and admitted they were members of the Kip Sing tong which is at war against the On Leong tong.
 Through an interpreter they told of being packed in large wooden cases, two and three men to a case, 30 days ago in Hong Kong. They were paid $200 each before they left China.

THE NEW STAR CAR ENDURANCE TEST AROUSES GREAT INTEREST

The Endurance Test of the New Star Car ended, as per schedule Saturday evening at the City Hall. Mayor C. C. Mitchell broke the seal and announced that the car had been driven 1,114.4 miles in the 50 hours, using 35 gallons of gasoline and 3 pints of oil. This is remarkable as the car did considerable mountain climbing during the run, making trips as far as Johnstown and all intermediate points. What other car will average 23 1/2 miles to a gallon of gasoline and 37 1/2 miles to a pint of oil?
 The Endurance Test aroused a lot of interest. Hundreds of guests were received, one coming from Philadelphia. Below is a list of the persons who are entitled to the prize:
 1—J. C. Coyne ..... 1,111 mi.
 2—S. Grimm ..... 1,135 mi.
 3—Ted Prichard ..... 1,102 mi.
 4—Henry Wolfe ..... 1,100 mi.
 5—J. Houston ..... 1,130 mi.
 6—J. Whorrie ..... 1,095 mi.
 7—Dan McCort ..... 1,135 mi.
 8—A. Minick ..... 1,091 mi.
 Don't give up hope if your name isn't among the first eight. Although there are only eight prizes the first eight may not all wish to buy a Star Car. If they do not notify us of their intentions before November 1 the next closest will be considered.—Advertisement—27oct11

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work. People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.
 Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous colic does without any of the bad after effects.
 All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.
 Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

Rev. Crow of the Somerset Christian Church and J. Kautner, one of his members, were also present. The church was filled.

Mrs. John I. Davis is visiting friends in Connelville at this writing.

Strength

—brings joy to you and your friends.

EVERY man, woman and child wants to have strength and correct weight. It means the joy of living. To be minus strength and underweight often proves low fighting power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. aids Nature in building them by the millions! There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today. It will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Pygmy Victim of Act of Mistaken Kindness

In 1904, after the St. Louis exposition one of the African pygmies exhibited there was stranded in New York on his way home. He finally got a job in a Coney Island restaurant, but soon lost it, and was near starvation when a person interested in his plight asked Dr. W. T. Hornaday, curator of the zoo, to give him work, says the Evening Transcript. The pygmy was set to work cleaning and tending the monkey cage, and later was promoted to the bear cage. He was happy and cheerful, but so slow that it took him half a day to clean the cage. It was not long before he became an object of greater interest than either the bears or monkeys, and an ingenious person conceived the idea of placing a sign on the front of the cage during the hours he spent there, announcing that he was a specimen of homo sapiens.

The fellow was not left unprotected long, however, for the New York Times learned of the practice and started righteous agitation against such indignity to a poor pygmy—and thus to the human race—and quickly interested the negro welfare societies. At their protest he was discharged and, after wandering southward from one ill treatment to another, he committed suicide.

Javanese Clever

The Javanese natives have a great love for music. Some of their musical instruments are very ingenious in appearance and pleasant to listen to. One of them, which is called a gamelan, is a sort of native orchestra, composed chiefly of gongs sounded in various sequences so as to produce a very sweet melody, with an accompaniment of wind and string instruments. A bamboo instrument called the anklung is also very popular. This is shaken by hand and gives forth a sprightly rhythm of which the natives are very fond. The music is played in the open air and is frequently the accompaniment to entertainments at which the age-old stories of the island are told. The Javanese also excel in work in copper and gold, although, having none of their own, they have to import their raw materials.

Cokers, Flashing Offensive For First Time This Season, Lose Close Contest, 13-6

McKeesport High Gets Break When Local Score Seems a Certainty.

LOCALS GAIN GROUND

Outplaying McKeesport in point of ground gained and the number of first downs made the Connellville High School dropped another game Saturday. The score was 13-6.

For the first time this year Connellville flashed an offense that resulted in gained ground. This was the only feature in the eyes of the many fans who attended as it was a whole new improvement in the team in general. When Connellville had the ball the line piled up holes for its advance and most gains were made in this fashion.

Receiving the kick off the Cokers started a smashing drive that ended their steadily toward the McKeesport goal. On the McKeesport 20 yard line a mid play pass the ball to a McKeesport back into whose arms it bounced. He ran 30 yards for the first score. The Cokers were unmoved for a few moments by the sudden switch but they settled down again and began to pile away to overcome the lead.

In the second quarter Chorpensing intercepted a forward pass and carried the ball to McKeesport's 15 yard line. McKeesport was puzzled twice in an effort for being off-balance the ball being on the way yard line in Connellville's possession. Angley failed to kick at 10 and 15 yards and his run netted one yard. Trump faked a line plunge for three yards and another took it two more he just falling short of the goal line. McKeesport punted out to O'Donnell. Schuler went in to intercept but a forward pass, Trump to Angley, netted five yards. Angley carried the ball as he fell to the ground.

Schuler hit the line for a yard and one-half. Another forward failed the aerial game was once again interrupted. A completed pass Trump to Schuler netted 14 yards. The ball was on the three yard line. Trump hit and fell in the third quarter when he took the ball and fell between the line and the goal. The attempt at a yard kick failed and when the half closed McKeesport led.

In the second half just at the close of the third quarter, McKeesport led the line. I was the only line the visitors had shown any real drive. Everything the ball from the 20 yard line to by a down of unrelenting power. It was taken down in a line rush. This attempt at goal failed.

Connellville attacked an aerial game in the latter minutes when they received a punt on the three yard line carrying the ball half way down the field before it was lost when McKeesport intercepted the pass.

Dunbar Finally Gets Home Game For Nov. 8, North Union to Play

Dunbar Township has its schedule for the year complete final arrangements for a game at Trotter field on November 8 were completed last week. This was an open date North Union Township will be the attraction.

This will afford the Dunbar fans another chance to see the boys and home territory once more. A record crowd is expected to witness the last game at home. Even though the grid-ders do not win it will not be because they didn't try. Try they surely did Saturday, but the breaks were against them not to be overcome by science or brawn.

MT. PLEASANT HI FORFEITS GAME TO SCOTSDALE OUTFIT

Coach of Former Team Says Referee Insulted Him on Playing Field.

2,500 ATTEND CONTEST

Biggest Crowd of Season Out to Witness Grid Battles Score 13-6 When Mount Pleasant Menor Calls Off Team in Last Quarter.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 27.—One of the best games of the season was spoiled Saturday when the Mount Pleasant High School team forfeited to Scottdale. The big crowd of 2,500 persons was keenly disappointed.

When the walk off occurred the 11 players had the ball on Mount Pleasant's two yard line.

Some explanation was due the people after a walk off and Mr. J. J. Delbert coach for the Mount Pleasant High said that as far as Scottdale's team was concerned it was good. It had not a thing against it nor the school officials. It had not proposed to be called on the field to be insulted by the referee he said nor would he stand for it.

Mr. Delbert stated that in the last quarter at the two yard line a play was considered illegal. When Post captain for the Mount Pleasant team talked to the referee about the play he was pushed away. Head called the coach on the field. Delbert says and immediately insulted him. He also said that with another referee he could play Scottdale or any other team at any time.

Not this year has such a crowd gathered at Athletic Park for a game of football as was there on Saturday. A number of victory bottles were sent into the field with a vengeance. A bottle kicked off and Shaw received. The game is far as Mount Pleasant was concerned was really played by Jocky and Jocky. Mr. Delbert while Captain Post did some excellent kicking.

During the first quarter Scottdale had two first downs, and Mount Pleasant three.

BINGVILLERS HANG UP ANOTHER SCALP FAIRCHANCE BEATEN

The South Connellville Independent clubbing another step on the ladder of victory Saturday trouncing the strong Fair Chance eleven 18-0 at Fair Chance. The local aggregation had in easy time scoring in every period.

Touchdowns were made by Vernon Adams, G. Solomon, Griffith, Kenner and Burkhardt. The two extra points were netted by a kick by Solomon and a pass DeBolt to Solomon.

The Independents will go to Mount Pleasant Saturday to meet the Bryce brothers even.

FACTS!

The Stylish Stout Rubber Reducing Girdle

The Stylish Stout Rubber Reducing Girdle is made of the most amazingly strong rubber—perfectly cured. It seems exactly like a "second-skin" in its clinging fit, yet it firms out the fat ridges, gives a beautiful firmness to the flesh, and a bewitching length of line that will charm you!

It's a lovely peach pink rubber "brocaded" in effect. All its trimmings are of an exactly matching tint. The garter clasps and buckles are handsomely gilt finished.

You have choice of closed-front (step-in) or clasp-front styles, either with or without back lacing.

Don't hide your lovely lines under pounds of flesh—Wear the

"Stylish Stout" Rubber Reducing Girdle

You may think that those lovely lines are gone forever, but just put on the new Stylish Stout Rubber Reducing Girdle and see what happens!

You'll find, first, that it is boned just enough to give you good lines. Then, that the fine, durable rubber of this Girdle begins to melt your pounds away.

You may work, or play, or rest—but whatever you do, while you wear this comfortable Reducing Girdle, you'll be growing slender, too!

Come to our Corset Department and see this Stylish Stout Rubber Reducing Girdle

Better still, see yourself in it! Most patrons are amazed at its slenderizing power. They exclaim over its comfort and remark about its beauty.

Its effect is the same and as sane—as the effects of exercise. For exercise induces perspiration—as does this girdle—and perspiration breaks up fat deposits.

Certainly the Stylish Stout Rubber Reducing Girdle is a pleasant way to slenderize—it can be worn all day, it asks of you no starvation diet, no violent exercise. It is modestly priced, for a Girdle of such beauty and service at

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

Halloween Fun.

One Mother Says: If your youngsters are having a Halloween party, try this stunt which amused my children last year—making paper bag funny-faces.

Each child is given a bag on which he can paint any sort of face that suits his fancy, then he blows up the bag and fastens it tightly with a string. The hands are often very comical and make lots of fun at a little party.

The Paramount

"MARRIAGE MORALS," on view today and tomorrow at the Paramount, is a story of modern Manhattan with Tom Moore and Ann Forrest appearing in the leading roles.

"Marriage Morals," briefly, tells the story of a devil-may-care scion of aristocratic Manhattan who has fallen into the hands of a clique of wastrels and hoodlums, whose existence is motivated by a never-ending search for the elusive "good time."

Half-fellow-well-met, he is met more than half-way by a group of smart set sponsors who manage to separate him from his wife and child and from his money.

On the brink of disaster, the faithful wife, who had left him in disgust at his orgies, returns to rescue him from the result of his excesses, when all his "friends" had deserted him.

Sobered and awakened he realizes the chimeras he has been chasing and the devotion of the wife and child he has been neglecting, with the result that he too adopts the "Marriage Morals" of his wife and definitely dropping those of loose living, fast stepping Broadway.

Tom Moore portrays the lovable rake and Ann Forrest, his loving wife. Other familiar names are Edmund Breese, Florence Billings, Harry T. Morey, Shannon Day, Tom Lewis, John Goldworthy, Little Russell Griffin, Charles Craig and "Mickey" Bennett.

Wednesday and Thursday "Traffic in Hearts" will be shown.

The Soisson

"THE SEA HAWK"—which opened today at the Soisson for a first national picture in which fourteen stars appear in the leading roles.

Milton Sills plays the title role, or rather the dual principal character in a most appealing manner. Mr. Sills' characters represent the most dominant individuals ever brought before a camera and he makes the most of every scene, reaching dramatic heights which should elevate him to a position few others might occupy. In all of his many interesting screen plays Sills has never had a role which demanded so much of his histrionic and so much of his physical self, and he rises to every occasion.

End Bennett as Rosamund is a charming heroine and her grade is refreshing. Lloyd Hughes does splendidly with the difficult character of Lionel. Wallace Berry is, as always, a perfect rogue, and Frank Corlier as the aged Asud, banish of Algiers, gives the old sultan a deep sincerity which is one of the finest bits of masculine emotion we have had the pleasure to witness. Wallace MacDonald makes Peter genuinely contemptible and Marc MacDermott as Sir John gives the character an air of dignity and true knightliness in his portrayal. Mme. Modest Radzina, a newcomer to the screen, plays Fustich with marked understanding, and William Collier, Jr., as her son, impersonates his character with typical youthful exuberance. Others in the cast acquit themselves commendably.

The Orpheum

"TRIUMPH"—which opened today at the Orpheum for a three day attraction, is a Paramount picture with Leatrice Joy and Rod La Rocque in the leading roles.

Miss Joy and Mr. La Rocque come to "Triumph" direct from conspicuous individual successes in "The Ten Commandments" while Verconi is the first actor to come to America from Hungary where he has been a matinee idol for years.

The story by May Edgerton, from which Jeanie Macpherson wrote the screen play, told of two men, half brothers, one rich, the other poor, who exchanged positions over night. DeMille has considerably expanded this material, particularly enlarging the part of Anna Lund, played by Miss Joy, who provides the love interest in the original story, while the two boys represent two phases of American life and discontent.

As Leatrice Joy portrayed the carefree jazz girl of "Manhattan," so is she in "Triumph" the type of twentieth century young woman who puts marriage aside for a future consideration and devotes her time to work that will lead to a career, only to find that fame isn't everything.

La Rocque gives his usually satisfying performance, and Verconi, this actor will bear watching. DeMille produces great things for him. Tom Mix will be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "The Trouble Shooter."

The Arcade

Rekindling a week's engagement at the Arcade Theatre today will be Lewis Brothers' Palm Garden Beauties, a decidedly clever musical show featuring Irish Billy Lewis. Mr. Lewis is said to be one of the funniest comedians in the field. Ray McClelland the lyric tenor, will be heard to advantage in several musical numbers. Chick Ward billed as the dancing wizard, will no doubt have several surprises in store for the patrons of this theatre with his novel dancing offerings. Thelma Lewis is said

Fayette Sunday School News

By J. H. Collins, Secretary.

Brownsville District No. 7 recently held its annual convention, at which the principal speakers were J. W. Dawson, W. L. Wilkey and President Coughenour. Pleading and appropriate selections were rendered by the Brownsville male quartet. The following persons were selected to serve as officers of the association: President, H. B. Pierce; vice-president, Ben S. Davies; secretary, Miss Sarah McCoy; treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Gable; district superintendents, children, Mrs. Emma Hornbake; young people, A. J. Taylor; adult, Dr. H. D. Graham; administration, W. S. Hays; Christian education, Rev. A. F. Hanes; class organization, Mrs. B. W. McVay; home and extension, Mrs. J. J. Martin; parent training, Mrs. Hattie Storey; teacher training, Rev. W. T. Swain; missions, Mrs. Fred Brown; temperance, Mrs. Harry Mincham; community service, J. B. Craft; music, John G. Percy.

The state convention was well attended and proved a decided success in every particular. There were quite a number of strong speakers and instructors who appeared from time to time in the course of the three day program, and every one had the opportunity afforded them of acquiring valuable information along the line of their particular work. The attendance was well on to one hundred from the various sections of our county, so that the districts should have no trouble in securing speakers to bring them reports and present the work of the different departments. Our veteran Sunday-school worker, President F. Griffin, had the honor of being presented with one of the service medals issued by the state association at their recognition service.

The young people's division, under the leadership of the county superintendent, Rev. A. F. Hanes, and associate superintendent, Miss Fern M. Colborn, together with the several members of the young people's council, may be truly proud of the very successful conference held for the county. They succeeded in securing the attendance of official delegates as representatives from every district save one. Rev. E. H. Donsall, an Episcopal pastor of Philadelphia, who is the state superintendent of the young people's division, was the principal speaker. Rev. Hanes has but recently been chosen to fill a vacancy in the office of superintendent, but is familiar with the work, having previously served the county in this capacity. The many friends of Rev. A. C. Brown, a former county superintendent of this division, will be glad to learn of his continued success in Christian work, he having recently been appointed supervisor of industrial missions in the state of West Virginia, at the annual session of the Methodist Episcopal Conference of that state.

Steel Corporation Sees Possible Good In Income Publicity

By United Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Bankers and corporation officials who first recoiled and then became highly interested in the disclosure of income tax payments throughout the country and opinion of this class, who, because their fortunes were the greatest, were the first to suffer through the rage of publicity turned on their wealth, ranged from deep resentment to a hope that some good might come out of the event.

Among the latter was E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, who implied that publicity might get some tax dodgers.

"If it should appear," he said, "from publication of these lists that some men having large incomes are paying less than some others not earning so much, some good may come of it. If some persons are avoiding payment of a fair share of their taxes through some technicality of the law, then the law should be amended."

Big Trucks Block Detour Streets

Blockading of two side streets Saturday caused considerable trouble on the part of motorists who were thereby greatly inconvenienced. One man said that when he drove into the business section he desired a parking space. Anticipating turning off North Pittsburgh street into Orchard alley he found a large truck blocking the entrance while its driver unloaded a cargo of goods.

Continuing he went west on Apple to Meadow lane, expecting to turn in to the latter street. Once more he was cut off, in this instance a big motor truck being backed across the entrance.

Similar conditions consistently prevail in Church place since its improvement with willies. The narrow street is used by numbers of machines, which are parked on either side and frequently passage through it is entirely blocked.

WHITE MAN

By George Agnew Chamberlain

Author of "Hans," "Through Shiloh Glen," "John Seaboard," etc.

"You think there is a man living I would run from?" said Andrea. "You don't know me."

"Perhaps you wouldn't," said M'sungu, "but in the case of MacCloster, it would be because you couldn't on account of jelly in the knees."

"Oh!" cried Andrea. "Now you have done it. Now I want to see him."

"Andrea Zeller," said M'sungu quietly, "please believe me when I tell you that you don't. I'm hoping the old devil won't go on a tear while you're here, but if he does and if he comes, just remember what I tell you. Rather than have MacCloster see you and touch you, I would gladly cut your throat."

"Why mine?" asked Andrea. "It would have impressed me a lot more if you'd said your own. Perhaps you realized that I couldn't quite believe that."

"Now you're trying to quarrel," said the white man coolly. "Aren't you sleepy?"

"No."

He yawned.

"That's nice of you," said Andrea. "And since you're interested, I might as well ask a few more questions. What were you doing on that beach with your airplane, anyway? Will that be telling tales out of school?"

He looked relieved. "Not at all. I'd cut off my third steamer load and I suddenly had news that put it up to me to change the captain's sailing orders before he passed beyond the reach of wireless. There wasn't time for anything but the old flying boat so I ran her out and jugged down the coast. I wasn't on that 'd—' beach more than thirty minutes, all told."

"Thirty minutes," murmured Andrea. "Who would have thought that one little half-hour could ever matter?"

He looked at her anxiously. "It doesn't pay to tell you things," he said. "We get along better just living."

"I wonder how you know?" said Andrea. "You've told me such a lot, haven't you? Where did you learn to lie?"

Her question seemed to send a shock through him, but he met her eyes squarely and said nothing. Andrea waited a full minute, then she began: "Who are you? What's your name? Where did you come from? Do you always take an airplane alone? Are you an amateur? If you're not, why do you shiver every time I say flying machine? Why do you?" She pounded the table.

The man's face paled and went whiter at each of her questions, but he held his tongue, and his silence maddened her. Without taking her saggy eyes off his face she swept two coffee cups, two saucers and two liqueur glasses to the ground with a crash.

Nothing could have served better to break the tension. The man smiled. "That was great," he said pleasantly. "You're like me—when in doubt, do something. Well," he continued in his better tone, "I can answer the right of all your questions and I will answer them because I don't want you ever to ask them again. Stubbard pride is the root of the whole mystery. During the first year of the war I was a flyer for the allies. I was on the way to a big name when my nerve went back on me. I couldn't believe it. I came down here and brought a machine with me, working on my old theory of contrast. You saw how I flew—how I landed. You took me for an amateur. That's all. Please leave it. It's the law in my philosophy, the inevitable in the clear amber of a reasonably happy life."

He snipped his cigar away, sending after it a long hot puff of smoke. Andrea no longer watched him. Her eyes fixed on the dying glow of the cigar butt. "I owe you several apologies," she said, quietly. "But I'm not to blame. I couldn't have guessed. I can understand some of what you feel."

Andrea looked at her companion and caught on his face a light of exaltation. "Why," she cried, outraged, "you haven't been listening!"

"Oh, yes I have," he answered promptly, coming back to earth. "Every word. Good for Harry."

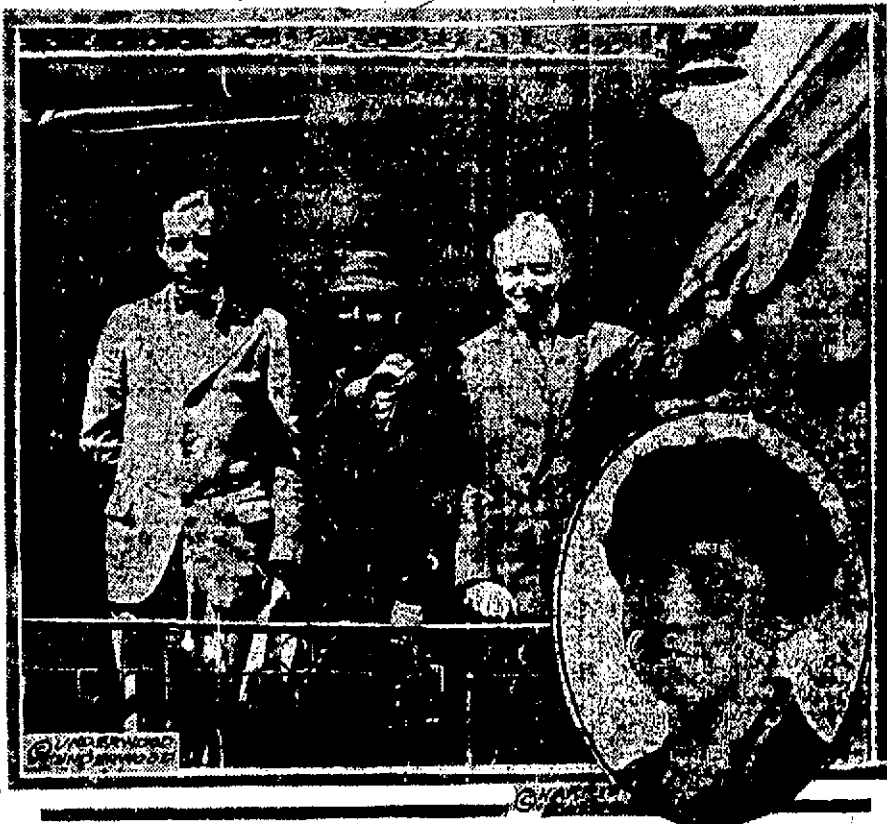

"Andrea studied his face, the shadow of a question in her own. "By the way," she said, "you are an American?"

"Sure thing," he answered, meeting her eyes squarely.

"But Canadians and Americans are a lot alike, aren't they?"

He contemplated his answer with a quirk of humor on his lips. "Nowadays," he said finally, "there's no reason why we should blush over saying 'yes' to that!"

"Do The Day's Work" Has Been Motto Of Calvin Coolidge During His Whole Career; He Sticks Close To His Job

When Calvin Coolidge was Governor of Massachusetts one of his utterances often since quoted, was "Do the day's work." Since the tragic death of President Harding, Mr. Coolidge has given the country and the whole world an example of practicing what he preaches. He has done the day's work every day, even if he had to work far into the night to do it.

The only vacation the President has had this year was a short trip to his native village of Plymouth, Vermont, where he visited his father. The arduous business of being President of the greatest country in the world makes necessary some rest and relaxation, a change from the terrific grind that was mostly responsible for the death of President Harding's predecessor.

The President has stated publicly that the business of being President will take too much of his time to permit of making a campaign. The Republican National Committee under the leadership of William M. Butler of Massachusetts will do that. Mr. Coolidge, except for his brief visit to Vermont, is staying on the job in Washington, doing the day's work.

The picture above shows the President and Mrs. Coolidge, with their son John, as they left Washington for the short respite from work and the heat of a Washington summer. The President was snapped by the photographer just as he was waving a farewell to the crowd gathered at the station to see him off.

His vacation was spent in hard work, but work of another sort. Much of the time he was overhauling his estate with a plow instead of a set of golf clubs. He is on more intimate terms with a pitchfork than a polo pony.

Mrs. Coolidge's face is shaded by her hat in the picture taken with her distinguished husband and her son. The other picture gives an idea of the attractive Mrs. Lady of the Land, whose charm and tact have captivated Washington. Before her marriage she was Miss Grace Anna Goodhue, of Northampton. She married Calvin Coolidge October 4, 1919, when he was a young lawyer practicing in Northampton.

CHAPTER VIII.

On the day following M'sungu received a message to the effect that his steamer had arrived and was already running on the warehouse wharf and could do with three hundred tons more. Andrea had previously thought him a gourmand for work; now she discovered a mariner.

"It's a cleanup," he declared. "In another month the rains will be here, there'll be no working in the forest, the game will scatter, the wildfowl will want to plant, and what's more, with this cargo I'll pass the million-dollar mark. That doesn't mean anything to you but it's my stake—the stake I'd set my heart on."

He took all hands off production and put them to bailing and packing. From the woods along the river he dragged to light a veritable fleet of wigs. They were up-ended along the bank, scrubbed, caulked and pitched. One after another they were floated out into waist-high water and anchored. The days were no longer enough. Every woman in the camp was set to making long, tightly bound palm-leaf brooms and from pickaninny from eight years up were organized into squads to light the night shift through the short hours of darkness. M'sungu took his sleep, if he took any, leaning against a tree near the host of hand-pressure baling machines.

All hands were kept steadily at work until it was completed. At its finish, when all the available material was stacked along the edge of the forest in great oblong piles that looked like newly cut timber, M'sungu gave a great spread.

To each ten men he allotted a tin of marmalade; to each twenty a box of crackers, a sack of flour, one loaf of salt and a demijohn of cheap but sound wine. Andrea watched this wholesale depletion of the white man's stores and began to wonder. As she wondered, her heart went waxy up and then way down. Was this the beginning of another end? Was she sorry or was she glad? She looked back on the few days of her new life and then seemed already to have stretched into years. She was too young or too careless to have noticed that time was slowly only to those who are in a rut of daily routine, dragging tragically under the blows of sorrow and almost forgetting itself entirely when joys are various.

The day came when the last of the herges, towing a little scow stacked with an overflow remnant of bales, was dispatched and M'sungu could take a long breath and turn his attention to putting the camp in order. This in itself was no small task. All branches, chips, bark, refuse and other rubbish consequent upon the work in the forest was gathered and burned. Then, as squad after squad of laborers left for home and the planting of their grass huts, scattered without the limits of the permanent camp, were also set on fire.

"Within a week of the first rains," said M'sungu to a listless Andrea, "the wilderness will have returned altogether to its own to all outward appearance. Three weeks after that, anyone penetrating to the clearing we have made will find nothing beyond a flourishing shamba or corn patch, the very natural property of the cran!"

On a night of downpour Andrea sat in her room, hands crossed upon a discarded broom in her lap and eyes widely fixed on some point of focus far beyond the pickaninny who had been her but. She was frightened, for her soul had come to talk with her and there was no escape. She could not phone up a taxi and a party of four and go to a show and supper afterward, thus losing the universal guest.

With a childish gesture of despair, she crept into bed, curled up with her face against the pillow and wept. The more she cried, the more it rained; the more it rained, the more she cried. There was no end to that—no end—no—Sleep did its best to take and hold her but tonight its grip was uncertain and long before morning it saw defeat coming and made a lastingly retreat.

Andrea awoke, not slowly, not whimpering up to consciousness through drowsy gradations, but suddenly with a snapping of eyes wide open on a great emptiness. She was alone, terribly alone, and hopelessly awake. She lay staring up at the cheerful lantern that she had purposely left burning. Its chimney was smoked. Outside, rain still poured.

Successful Marketing of Coal and Coke Requires Very Thorough Knowledge

Both of Production and of the Requirements and Needs of Consumers.

MAINTAINING THE QUALITY

Is of Prime Importance in Holding Trade; Failure to do so has Contributed to Expansion of By-Product Industry and Loss of Business.

At a recent meeting of the Fayette-Greene Coal Operators' Association, W. L. Byers presented a paper dealing with the selling of coal and coke which is full of pertinent facts concerning this form of effort as it relates to the Connellsville Region. The paper of Mr. Byers follows.

"The object in mining coal or making coke is to convert natural resources and labor into profit. In order to do this the fuel must be produced, the sale made, the product shipped and delivered and the money collected for it. Quite frequently the coal or coke operator only comes in contact with the producing end of the whole process, and the selling, delivering and collecting is done by the holder or sales agent. The very nature of the work done by the producer and the sales organization is of an entirely different character and requires different training and talent. The two must be closely associated, but the work of the operator involves so much of the handling of men, of mechanics, and the eternal wrestle with nature, that he must be successful with nature, and be successful, he must be very resourceful, of an indomitable spirit, willing to take a chance, and never say die. One in the selling game must be a careful student of economics, of finance, of commerce and the trend of business, a close observer of conditions and a good salesman. He must have a talent for collecting and must understand shipping. The part that the intelligent shipping plays in the ultimate success of a sale has been many times under-

"The operator's part in the preparation of coal is most important and has not been given the proper attention in this district. One reason so many of our mines are shut down now is because our coal received such a black eye during 1918 and 1920. The haste to get the greatest tonnage and the scarcity of labor were the reasons for the coal being shot so fine, and carelessly loaded with slag. Most of our miners were recruited from mines connected with the coke plants, where small size coal is a benefit and heavy shooting not discouraged. It was difficult to reverse the system of mining at a time when men were scarce. The old way was the easier. Then again, nearly all our coal operators were new at the game. They did not realize the comeback from such a large percentage of slack and impurities.

"All our operators who have facilities for screening and loading clean coal are running now. Some of them have very difficult natural conditions. Most of our run of mine coal, unless very low in sulphur, it burned rapidly will clinker. Screened coal will not clinker nearly so easily. It is all. Most of our product was shipped in run of mine and the mine district got the reputation of producing poor steam coal. For most purposes, except the manufacturing of coke and cement, coal should be mined as cheaply as possible; the shooting should be done with black powder or a slow permissible, and no more powder than absolutely necessary used. The handling and dumping arrangements should be so constructed as to give the minimum of shock in the movement of the coal from the working place to the car.

"It is quite an advantage to have shaker screens and boom loaders. Coal over a shaker screen brings more money in most markets than over a bar screen, and the modern shaker screen installation provides for picking. It is surprising what a little attention to taking slugs and impurities will do in reducing ash. The first order I got for coal in this region in 1919, was for coal in this coke plant, ran 11 per cent ash and so put a man on the cars to pick on the slate, when it dropped back to 3 per cent. It was difficult in those days to get any one to load coal. The coke plants had no facilities and the operators felt that they were being humiliated when they were asked to load coal instead of their manufactured product. Cutting too deeply, or taking too much coal, often causes lost ash and many times these extremes contain the greatest amount of sulphur and other impurities.

"The question is often asked why we should have screened coal in the Connellsville trade. The duty on coal into Canada is 11 cents a ton on slack and 55 cents on run of mine or screened coal. When run of mine is shipped there is such a large percentage of slack in it which has to be dumped at the 55 cent duty that most consumers prefer to buy the screened coal and slack separately thereby paying only 11 cents duty on the slack. When three-quarter screened coal reaches a Canadian dock it is generally as badly broken up that it looks like run of mine.

"The exportation of coal to foreign countries is seriously handicapped by both our ocean and rail rates to the ports. A large tonnage of English anthracite is now being brought into Canada because the ocean rate is very much lower than the full rate from Pennsylvania. Ultimately with our adjustment of the flow of ship, the rate to foreign countries, and the increase in the supply and the increase in the cost of coal of Europe, we will enjoy a lucrative export business.

"The preparation of coke is dependent upon the clean mining of the coal, proper charging and leveling of coal in the ovens, intelligent burning, careful watering and screening. We were warned many a time before the war by blast furnace men that they would build by-product ovens at their first opportunity in order to obtain clean, well screened uniform coke. Many a piece of sheet iron over a screen has done its part towards bringing about the construction of by-product ovens as we now have them. The moisture content of coke has not given attention by many producers or consumers but when it can be easily be controlled by careful handling.

"In order to market coal or coke successfully, the sales agent must have not only a thorough knowledge of the product, but also of the customer's requirements. Some kinds of coke will work to best advantage in a large furnace running on pig iron, producing basic iron, whereas, an entirely different coke will work best in a small furnace using hard ores, making foundry iron, and a consideration should be given to the varying combinations of these conditions before any particular coke is recommended. Most furnace men do not know much about the burning of coke, but they do know very quickly whether they are getting suits their requirements or not. It is up to us to get them what they need, and we should know if we are to collect pay for our services.

"This amount of volatile in coal, the composition of the ash, the sulphur and oxygen content play an important part in determining its most efficient use. Our coals in this district are particularly suited to railroad fuel and to the manufacture of coke. I feel sure that our product will come into good demand for railroad fuel when it is loaded with that object in view.

"The policy of our selling agencies, outside of those built by the larger producing companies, has not always been the best for either the operators or the agencies themselves in the long run. Too much of the future good will has been sacrificed to immediate profit. A selling agency of fuel can perform a real service both to the producer and the consumer and it should be taken up not as a temporary speculation but as an interesting life work with the foundation for future good will and knowledge of the business laid broad and deep. So many times the selling department is looked upon as a necessary evil and expense rather than as performing an important function as the producing end of the business.

"A good sales agency is very difficult to build up. Resident representatives at consuming points should be chosen from high class men who have been brought up and are thoroughly established in the business and social life of the locality in which they are to work. Above all, they should be honest, with the vision of a long future. Selling by telephone can be successfully done after contact and acquaintance has been well established.

"The one curse of the coal business is shipping on consignment. An operator or sales agency becomes so anxious to move the product that it is sent out to some distant point to be sold at what it will bring. This is always demoralizing in the selling of any commodity and particularly so in fuel. We would like to see a law enacted making this illegal.

"Routing, freight rates, various kinds of equipment, allowances for time in transit during good and bad weather, trading services, are important in successful shipping. This is particularly true in exporting.

"Getting the money is no small factor in successful selling. It is the ultimate object of the whole process. Credits are remarkably good in the coal and coke business, although losses when they do occur are generally large. Careful investigation of customers' credit and constant vigilance in the price of success in collecting. It is often necessary in selling coke to blast furnace companies that are not very strong to find out where they are selling most of their product and the financial strength of their customers. We sometimes think that even then our success in this district in credits has been more good luck than good management. The collector who goes after the money the most vigorously is the one who gets the most from a slow paying customer.

"We have passed the day of order taking and are now in the era of greatest value and selling effort. We must have something good to sell and then go into keen competition and sell it. We can obtain orders for our steam coal and Connellsville coke in competition with any district if we go after the business in the right way. We have a great many things in our favor; freight rates are about as fair all around as any region enjoys; we have a good class of non-union labor, men who will do a day's work and that fairly regularly. We have the best combination of railroad facilities in the world for moving large tonnage. We have thick veins of coal, enabling the production of larger tonnage per acre and the use of better haulage system. We have good living conditions and good schools, good roads and trolley service. We are close to good stores and mine supply houses. We have better telephone service than most mining regions and very much better order and protection for property than many. We are used to these conditions and do not appreciate their importance, but if we were deprived of any one of them we might have reason to feel that luck was against us. Any operator who has produced coal in some of the more remote districts will readily appreciate our good conditions.

"When we get a chance to run again we must go after business in the right way and establish the quality of our coal in the market. We must make the customer want our product instead of laugh at us when we offer Connellsville region coal. Our operators must get out of the office and into the pit and attend to their jobs. The responsible head of anything, particularly the owner, can do a lot towards keeping the quality right and the costs down, if he is on the job. If we, and this applies to those in the selling game as well as to the operators, will use our heads more and not be too lazy to work our problems out to their best solution, and then apply the result, we should have a prosperous coal business in this district for many decades to come. When we are down like we are now we do not see any light ahead, but when we are going good we think it will always be so. It is our opinion that we are now about to have our turn at the bat, and we should while the ball on the nose and knock a home run on quality. Good hard work in operating and selling will bring results.

"As to the immediate outlook, we have turned the corner and we are about to have a substantial advance in coal and coke prices during the next two months. Industry is picking up, and we have assurance of those who know that business is going to improve very materially. The National City Bank sums up the outlook by saying that 'so far as economic conditions are concerned, the outlook today for a broad and substantial industrial revival is more favorable than at any time since the War.' The Steel Corporation is running about 65 per cent of its producing capacity. The independent steel companies are running a trifle over 50 per cent. Pig iron increased in production 10 per cent during September, the number of furnaces in blast the last of August being 151 and on the last of September 172, out of a total of 402 furnaces, less than half the capacity. Of course, the furnaces in operation are generally the larger stocks. I doubt if any of us can remember when the U. S. Frick Coke Company had only two coke plants going in the Connellsville region before this summer, even when coke was only bringing one dollar a ton. Of course, the Frick company is shipping quite a tonnage of coal to Clairton from the river mines, but there has been a big increase in their steel and blast furnace requirements.

"Our agricultural districts are improving very rapidly in their condition and the price of wheat, corn, and cotton. A dollar and fifty cent wheat, with other farm products in proportion, means prosperity for the farmer and all others from whom he purchases. There is a very large amount of grain now being exported to Europe. This has been brought about by the improvement in the financial relations.

"Money is cheap and will likely remain so for some time to come. Business is about to swing towards prosperity and we must be prepared to take advantage of it. We have just gone through the worst coal market conditions that some authorities say have existed for 10 years. This was brought about by the consumers buying big stocks in anticipation of a strike, by the signing of a three year agreement in the union districts, which added another year of freedom from the fear of a strike, and a market let up in industry. The psychology of the small consumers of coal is hard to understand. They stock up when coal is scarce and high in price and then lift their stocks when it is cheap and plentiful. Bad weather, a car shortage, or a threatened strike in the mines or on the railroads will drive them all into the market at once. They could save a lot of money, make lower cost for the operator and more steady work for the miners if they would reverse this process and deplete their stock piles when coal is scarce and high and lay it down when we are all in the market cutting the price. Last winter the country's stock was estimated at eighty millions of tons. Now it has been reduced to one half or less, with the price below cost.

"Railroad fuel stocks are low. This all means that with winter coming, improvement in industry and low stock, we are going to get some business. The weekly production is now about ten millions of tons, as against seven million tons, which were being produced for a number of months this last spring and summer. Quite a good deal of this increase has been for domestic use. We have not felt the improvement so much because our trade is mostly in steam and by-product grades. The normal stocks are about forty-five to fifty million tons, somewhat heavier in winter than in summer.

"I think we have only a bright future ahead of us and we should discount our difficulties often they seem greater than they really are."

DANUBE'S DELTA A WATERY MAZE

Its Many Mouths Present Innumerable Lairs for Piratically Inclined.

Washington, D. C.—Playing hide and seek with Rumanian gumbos in the sixteen mouths of the Danube river, a robber chieftain called Terrence, self-styled "King of the Swamps," is reported to have brought shipping on the great river to a standstill.

"Standing well to the front among the rivers of the world the Danube with its many mouths, presents innumerable lairs for the piratically inclined," the National Geographic society says in a bulletin from its headquarters in Washington, D. C.

"After sprawling in a great angle around the barrier of Dobruja, continues the bulletin, 'the so-called blue Danube drops its load of mud and sand gathered from eight nations of Europe in a large delta at the western end of the Black sea. This delta takes the form of a huge, equilateral triangle fifty miles long on each side. The northern border is the Kilia branch, the south, the St. Georges branch, while on the east is the Black sea shore. The two main branches of the Danube are subdivided time and again in their over-riding impossible task of trying to make land and flow over it at the same time.

"Bisecting the triangle is the Sulfina branch of the Danube which receives practically all of the shipping trade, since a deep channel to the upper river is maintained through it by the concerted action of the governments of Europe. The treaty of Paris of 1856 created the European commission of the Danube and ordered it to make the mouths of the great river open to navigation within two years. Evidence of how little the diplomats knew of the engineering problems involved in making a huge river serve mankind is shown by the fact that the commission not only worked two years but is still at work.

Deltas Drizzly Places.

"Of all the varieties of earth surface, deltas rank high as the most useless to civilization. Mountains are admired for their inspiration, deserts hold rare beauty for those who seek it, but no one goes to a delta even to hunt ducks if he can help it. The Danube's delta is particularly unattractive since the peasants have not been able to adapt it to agriculture as sugar cane planters have large parts of the Mississippi delta. Some deltas such as those of the Amazon and the Yangtze consist of large islands surrounded by considerable water, but the Danube's waters run through a vast swamp which was almost a complete barrier to navigation before the European commission of the Danube took a hand.

"In country that is neither land nor water the reeds and willows take command and do not much admire. Deprived of timber the peasant fishermen put the reeds to many uses. Willows are used for basket making and for fish weirs. A planned reed is cut for fuel and still another kind is woven into mats or used as thatch. Inhabits of the Danube delta are mostly Russian fishermen. Those who are licensed at fishing restrictions in the United States can appreciate what a fisherman's paradise they live in by comparison. The Rumanian government considers fishing a government monopoly, and every commercial catch must be brought to a government customs house to be weighed and taxed.

"By the construction of levees and piers, the European commission of the Danube has opened a channel to Galatz, the Rumanian naval port, capable of receiving shipping up to 3,000 tons. The traffic in and out of the river amounts to more than 5,000,000 tons annually. In this respect the main fifth nation in petroleum production sends out much of her oil to the world. From the loose plains of Bessarabia and southern Rumania, continuations of the Black Earth belt of Russia, come tons of cereals and even American corn which is a staple Rumanian product.

"Before the Sulfina channel was made products were brought to the sea in lighters and put aboard ships waiting in the open roadstead. Once a heavy storm arose and dashed 24 sailing vessels and many lighters on shore with the loss of 300 lives. Such a disaster is now impossible.

Danube Shorter Than Mississippi.

"The Danube rises in the Alps and flows 1,750 miles to reach the Black sea, breaking through the Carpathian mountains at the Iron gate, which is the Calubra cut of the Balkans. It is about 750 miles shorter than the Mississippi, and although it drains a great part of Europe outside of Russia, the Pacific basin is only one-fourth that of the Mississippi. The Nile, like the Danube, has many mouths, a recent map showing eleven. The Mississippi once divided into many shabby streams to reach the Gulf, but engineers have succeeded in guiding most of its force into a single channel.

"It may be that Terrence, the Danube pirate, is using the unhabitable Isle of Serpents off the mouth of the river for the headquarters of his fleet. This prehistoric island about a mile in circumference figures in Greek history and is supposed to be the home of the spirit of Achilles. Great flocks of white-winged sea gulls frequent its rocky shores together with the black snakes from which the island takes its name."

PATER CURIALIS

Uncle Mose Jackson announced his candidacy for chairman from the colored ward.

"What makes you think you can be a successful politician, Uncle Mose?" asked a friend.

"Well, sah," replied the dandy, "for one thing, I see the father of a family."

"That's very commendable, but what has that to do with politics?"

"Well, sah," explained Uncle Mose, "they is seven vowels in dat family."

Indicating Chevrolet Quality

Power!
Power to speed over the steepest hills—to pull through the most difficult roads. Endurance that gives dependable, trouble-free performance and long life. Economy—the greatest in any automobile engine.

These are outstanding characteristics of Chevrolet's famous valve-in-head motor.

The Chevrolet power plant includes a modern 3-speed slidinggear transmission with hand lever, Remy electric Starter generator and ignition—water pump to insure perfect cooling, and oil pump for efficient lubrication. The fuel is fed by a modern vacuum feed system.

This is the type of construction found on cars far above Chevrolet in price and it is a fair indication of the quality to be found in a Chevrolet car throughout. Let us demonstrate these facts to your utmost satisfaction.
